

CASE MANAGEMENT BRIEF (INTERNAL)

Participant Case Plan: Jarvier Xavier Frazier-Butler

Participant:	Jarvier Xavier Frazier-Butler	Date of Birth:	June 2002 (Age: 24)
Reentry Agency:	Shield Ministries Reentry Program	Supervision Type:	State Probation (Charleston County)

1. RISK PROFILE

Overall Risk/Need Level: HIGH (LS/CMI Total Score: 24 / 43)

Jarvier represents a High Risk profile. Supervision intensity should be highly structured, focusing on targeting dynamic criminogenic needs through cognitive-behavioral coaching and skill-building. (Note: Criminal History has been excluded from the primary target domains below per user directive.)

Need Priority	Criminogenic Domain	Key Subcomponent Indicators
1 (Primary)	Antisocial Personality Pattern	History of recurrent physical violence (Assault & Battery High Aggravated, Assault 1st, Resisting Arrest/Assaulting Police) and weapons use. Admitted impulsivity and high frustration sensitivity.
2 (Secondary)	School / Work	Currently unemployed; 0 payroll months worked in the last 12 months. Disciplinary history in school (both suspended and expelled). Left past cleanup/cooking jobs due to transportation issues.
3 (Tertiary)	Antisocial Cognition	Neutralizes guilt and exhibits procriminal justification ('some of my crimes are justified'). Strong egocentric worldview and rationalizations for delinquent behaviors under pressure.

2. BEHAVIORAL INDICATORS

Behavioral indicators represent how Jarvier's criminogenic risk factors manifest in daily life. Understanding these patterns prepares staff to anticipate friction points and select coaching interventions.

Behavioral Component	Observed Manifestation & Thinking Patterns
Typical Triggers	Transportation failures, structural instability (eviction history), unemployment, and perceived disrespect or challenging situations from authority figures.
Escalation Tendencies	Recurrent physical violence and aggressive resistance. When facing legal or community supervision pressure, he has historically escalated to physical fights and resisting arrest.
Thinking Pattern: JUSTIFYING	Neutralizes criminal guilt. Specifically states: 'the bad ones I do feel some kind of remorse, but some of them I feel are justified.' This allows him to bypass prosocial morals when facing crises.
Thinking Pattern: CUT OFF	A tendency to give up or walk away from responsibilities when things become highly frustrating or when structural barriers (like transportation) seem insurmountable.
Authority Response Style	Highly sensitive and defensive. Has a documented record of assaulting and fighting police officers serving process, though currently reports a highly cooperative stance with his PO.

3. PATTERN OVER TIME

Delinquency Trajectory: Jarviers justice involvement began exceptionally early, with a first arrest at age 10. His history contains a dense juvenile record which he is unable to fully recall, followed by a severe escalation in adulthood. He has been incarcerated upon conviction, recently completing a two-year prison term under a DOC sentence (Burglary 2nd/Assault 1st).

Community Supervision Violations: His community supervision history is marked by instability. He has had his probation and parole suspended/revoked, and was arrested on supervision for public intoxication, malicious property damage, and pedestrian in the roadway, which co-occurred with an armed robbery the same night. This trajectory highlights a pattern of rapid escalation from minor property offenses to severe physical violence.

4. ACUTE / EMERGENCY NEEDS

These immediate stabilization needs must be addressed during his first 30 days to facilitate program compliance:

- Transportation Stabilization: His driver's license is suspended. He currently relies on walking or unreliable public transit. He needs immediate scheduling support, bus passes, and route mapping to attend Shield Ministries' programs regularly.
- Medication Compliance: He takes Remron (mirtazapine) daily. Reentry staff must verify he has an uninterrupted supply of his medication and access to medical providers.
- Financial/Program Fee Debt: He has immediate obligations to pay program fees to Shield Ministries. Lacking a payroll job, he requires rapid transitional employment or fee-deferral options to prevent financial crisis.

5. STRUCTURAL STABILITY FACTORS

- Housing Stability: High stability. He is currently residing in 'college' or Shield Ministries cottage housing and expresses immense satisfaction ('I love it'). This safe, structured environment is a major protective factor.
- Education: Highly stable. Holds a GED and has completed 12th grade, leaving him well-prepared for vocational training without academic remedial barriers.
- Employment History: Unstable but skilled. Possesses experience in construction cleanup, demolition cleanup, and cooking. Jobs typically ended due to a lack of reliable transportation. He holds a strong desire to work.
- Substance Use: Historically used alcohol which contributed to his severe arrest on active supervision. He has been sober during incarceration, but needs relapse prevention as his work and social circles expand.

6. LEGAL & PLACEMENT CONSTRAINTS

- Supervision Schedule: Subject to active state probation. Requires coordination of program times with probation officer visits (whom he reports is fair and reasonable).
- Pending Charges: He reports 'I might have pending charges, I don't know.' Staff must conduct immediate legal advocacy and a records check to clarify any unresolved warrants or pending court dates.
- Placement Safety: No Sex Offender Registry requirements. However, his history of severe physical violence and resisting arrest requires careful monitoring in group environments to manage anger/conflict triggers.

7. RESPONSIVITY & ENGAGEMENT PROFILE

- Coaching Style: Supportive & Cognitive-Behavioral: Jarviers is highly motivated to work and lead a law-abiding life, and he deeply loves his family (wife/girlfriend and children). Staff should leverage this family motivation in case planning. Use non-confrontational CBT (e.g., MRT or Carey Guides) to address his Justifying and Cut Off thinking patterns.
- Trauma-Informed Approach: He has a severe history of childhood family abuse, neglect, and removal from the home by DSS. This trauma likely drives his authority sensitivity and emotional reactivity. Staff must maintain a calm, predictable, and supportive demeanor.
- Authority Figure Sensitivity: Due to his history of resisting and assaulting police officers, aggressive or overly confrontational supervision will trigger a defensive, defiant response. Reentry coaches should emphasize collaboration and problem-solving, building on his positive view of his current probation worker.
