

CASE MANAGEMENT REENTRY BRIEF

REVISED REENTRY ROADMAP (HIGH-RISK EDUCATION/EMPLOYMENT UPDATE)

Participant Name:	Lokheim Campbell (Loe Jerel Campbell)	DOB / Age:	January 22, 1991 (35)
Current Placement:	Federal Halfway House, Columbia, SC	License Status:	SUSPENDED (Treasury tags debt)
Legal Status:	Federal Supervised Release (Ends Dec 2026)	Assessment Score:	MEDIUM RISK (Score: 17 / 43)

1. RISK PROFILE & CRIMINOGENIC DOMAINS

Lokheim Campbell's standardized LS/CMI assessment calculates a Section 1 Total Score of 17 / 43, placing him at the high end of the Medium Risk/Need category. This revised score incorporates a major clinical update: he is now scored as Currently Unemployed (YES). Under the diagnostic rules of the LS/CMI Scoring Manual, because he is currently unemployed in the community and not in school, his work performance, coworker interactions, and supervisor interactions (Items 15, 16, and 17) are forced to a score of 0 (Very Unsatisfactory), representing active, acute risk points. Per strict case instructions, his high Criminal History subscore (5/8) is excluded from direct case planning targets, establishing the following prioritized criminogenic focus areas:

- Primary Domain: School / Work (EE Subscore: 7/9) [ELEVATED]: Although Lokheim holds a high school diploma (graduated Marlboro County High School, 2009), his continuous eleven-year federal incarceration has left him with extremely unpracticed workplace relationship and self-regulation skills in the community. He has worked only 1 payroll month in the last year (temp shifts with Hire Quest) and has no 12-month continuous employment history. Securing stable employment and resolving his current unemployment is his most critical criminogenic priority.
- Secondary Domain: Leisure / Recreation (LR Subscore: 1/2): Lokheim lacks any current participation in formal organized community groups, sports clubs, or teams. While he exercises heavily and enjoys working out, his unstructured free time represents a key risk vacuum that must be filled with structured, prosocial activities to prevent relapse.
- Tertiary Domain: Antisocial Cognition (PA Subscore: 1/4): While deeply remorseful for his first crime (2009 armed robbery), Lokheim exhibits active rationalizations regarding his 2015 firearms conviction, insisting he was solely acting in self-defense after being attacked. He denies the fairness of that sentence. Case managers must target this justifying cognitive distortion through cognitive restructuring.

2. BEHAVIORAL INDICATORS & THINKING PATTERNS

Observation and interview records indicate a cooperative, polite, and patient client who is highly motivated to succeed. However, his long-term incarceration and underlying psychological profile present key behavioral indicators that staff must actively navigate:

- Justifying / Minimizing (Firearm Possession): Lokheim rationalizes his weapon carrying as a protective necessity, stating: 'I feel the last case I feel I was defending myself, protecting myself. I was put in a bad situation and I'm protecting myself.' This cognitive loophole allows him to bypass conventional legal and supervision boundaries under stress.

- Severe PTSD & High-Security Trauma: Having spent over a decade in the highest-security United States Penitentiary (USP) prisons (such as USP Pollock and USP Lee), Lokheim suffers from severe PTSD and hyper-vigilance: 'I do suffer from PTSD due to me being in prison for so long... and in that environment, yes, I do suffer and I am afraid. And I do worry.' This trauma can easily manifest as extreme defensiveness or fear under perceived pressure.
- Unpracticed Employment Competencies: Because he is currently unemployed, his daily workplace habits, peer interactions, and supervisor interactions are rated as very unsatisfactory. Although he is team-oriented, his lack of current stable work makes him highly vulnerable to occupational drift and cognitive frustration.
- Prosocial Alignment & Strong Motivation: Lokheim has excellent self-regulation: 'I think before I act often. I make goals, plans, and check if I'm following them.' He is fully supportive of supervision ('appropriate and justifiable') and highly motivated to succeed: 'Nothing is going to hold me back. I need this program. I'm ready.'

3. TRAJECTORY & PATTERN OVER TIME

Lokheim's criminal justice trajectory began at age 17 with his first arrest, which led to an Armed Robbery and Weapon conviction in 2009, resulting in a 5-year incarceration. Shortly after release, his federal supervised release was revoked in 2015 following an arrest for a shooting, leading to a federal conviction for Felony Possession of a Firearm (922G). In total, Lokheim has spent sixteen (16) years of his adult life incarcerated, leaving him with extremely unpracticed community living skills. The cycle we are interrupting is chronic institutional dependency, vocational drift, and hyper-vigilant weapon-carrying driven by community survival fears.

4. ACUTE / EMERGENCY NEEDS

At intake, Lokheim presents severe housing transience and acute financial deficit. He is currently homeless, residing at the federal halfway house with 0 active income, no bank accounts, and relies entirely on Chime or Cash App. Furthermore, because he is currently unemployed, he has an acute stabilization need to find immediate legal employment. Assistance with basic hygiene products, clothes, public transit passes, and food stamps is urgently required as he finishes his sentence in December 2026.

5. STRUCTURAL STABILITY FACTORS

Several critical structural and social stability factors dictate his transitional risk and protective layout:

- Housing Stability: Unstable. Homeless outside of the federal halfway house; requires rapid transitional housing support.
- Employment Status: Unstable (High Risk - EE Score 7/9). Currently unemployed with extremely limited recent community work history.
- Transportation Barrier: High. Suspended license due to unpaid tag debt; lacks a birth certificate, which prevents license restoration.
- Substance Abuse Stability (Protective Shield): Extremely Favorable. Lifelong abstainer from alcohol and street drugs. He is currently on medically managed Suboxone (opioid replacement therapy) which his family supports as safe and healthy.
- Maternal Anchor (Family Strength): Excellent. His mother is a dedicated supporter and provides a safe emotional shelter.
- Prosocial Peer Shield (Companions Strength): Extremely High. Knows many people not in crime and has many anticriminal friends, actively rejecting gang and street lifestyles.

6. LEGAL & PLACEMENT CONSTRAINTS

Lokheim is under active federal halfway house placement and will transition to active federal supervised release in December 2026. He has no pending charges. His suspended license severely restricts his physical mobility and placement locations, meaning all placements must be directly accessible via public transit.

7. RESPONSIVITY & ENGAGEMENT PROFILE

To maximize program adherence and reduce recidivism, Turn 90 staff should adapt their delivery to his psychological and cognitive profile:

- Trauma-Informed, Supportive Coaching: Due to his severe PTSD from USP prison environments, case managers must approach Lokheim with a highly calm, supportive, non-confrontational demeanor. Aggressive or highly directive authority styles will trigger survival-based defensiveness.
- CBT for Employment and Cognition (EE Subscore 7/9): Integrate interactive, role-play-based CBT to rebuild his workplace peer and authority relationship skills. Use structured cognitive restructuring to challenge his rationalization that carrying firearms is a valid or safe self-defense option.
- Leverage Strategic Planning: Capitalize on Lokheim's strong natural self-regulation, goal-setting, and planning habits. Involve him directly in co-creating his transition milestones and weekly schedules.
- Active Transition Support: Prioritize assistance in retrieving his birth certificate, resolving his tag debt, and transitioning him from transitional Hire Quest shifts to a permanent, transit-accessible, stable career path through Turn 90.
